REFRIGERATORS.

Sectional view, showing plan of construction, and the air circulation.

CONSTRUCTION.—All our Refrigerators for family use are lined throughout with zinc or galvanized iron, no wood being left uncovered inside to absorb odors. They are made with inside boxes of spruce, which are thickly covered with felt paper, and are fitted into the outer casings of ash, pine, or oak, leaving about an inch of dead-air space between the two walls. This arrangement of a dead-air space with felt paper lining is admittedly the best device for the non-conduction of heat or cold.

AIR CIRCULATION.—Our many improvements in the construction of openings between the ice and provision chambers insure a double circulation of dry cold air through the Refrigerator while ice is in use.

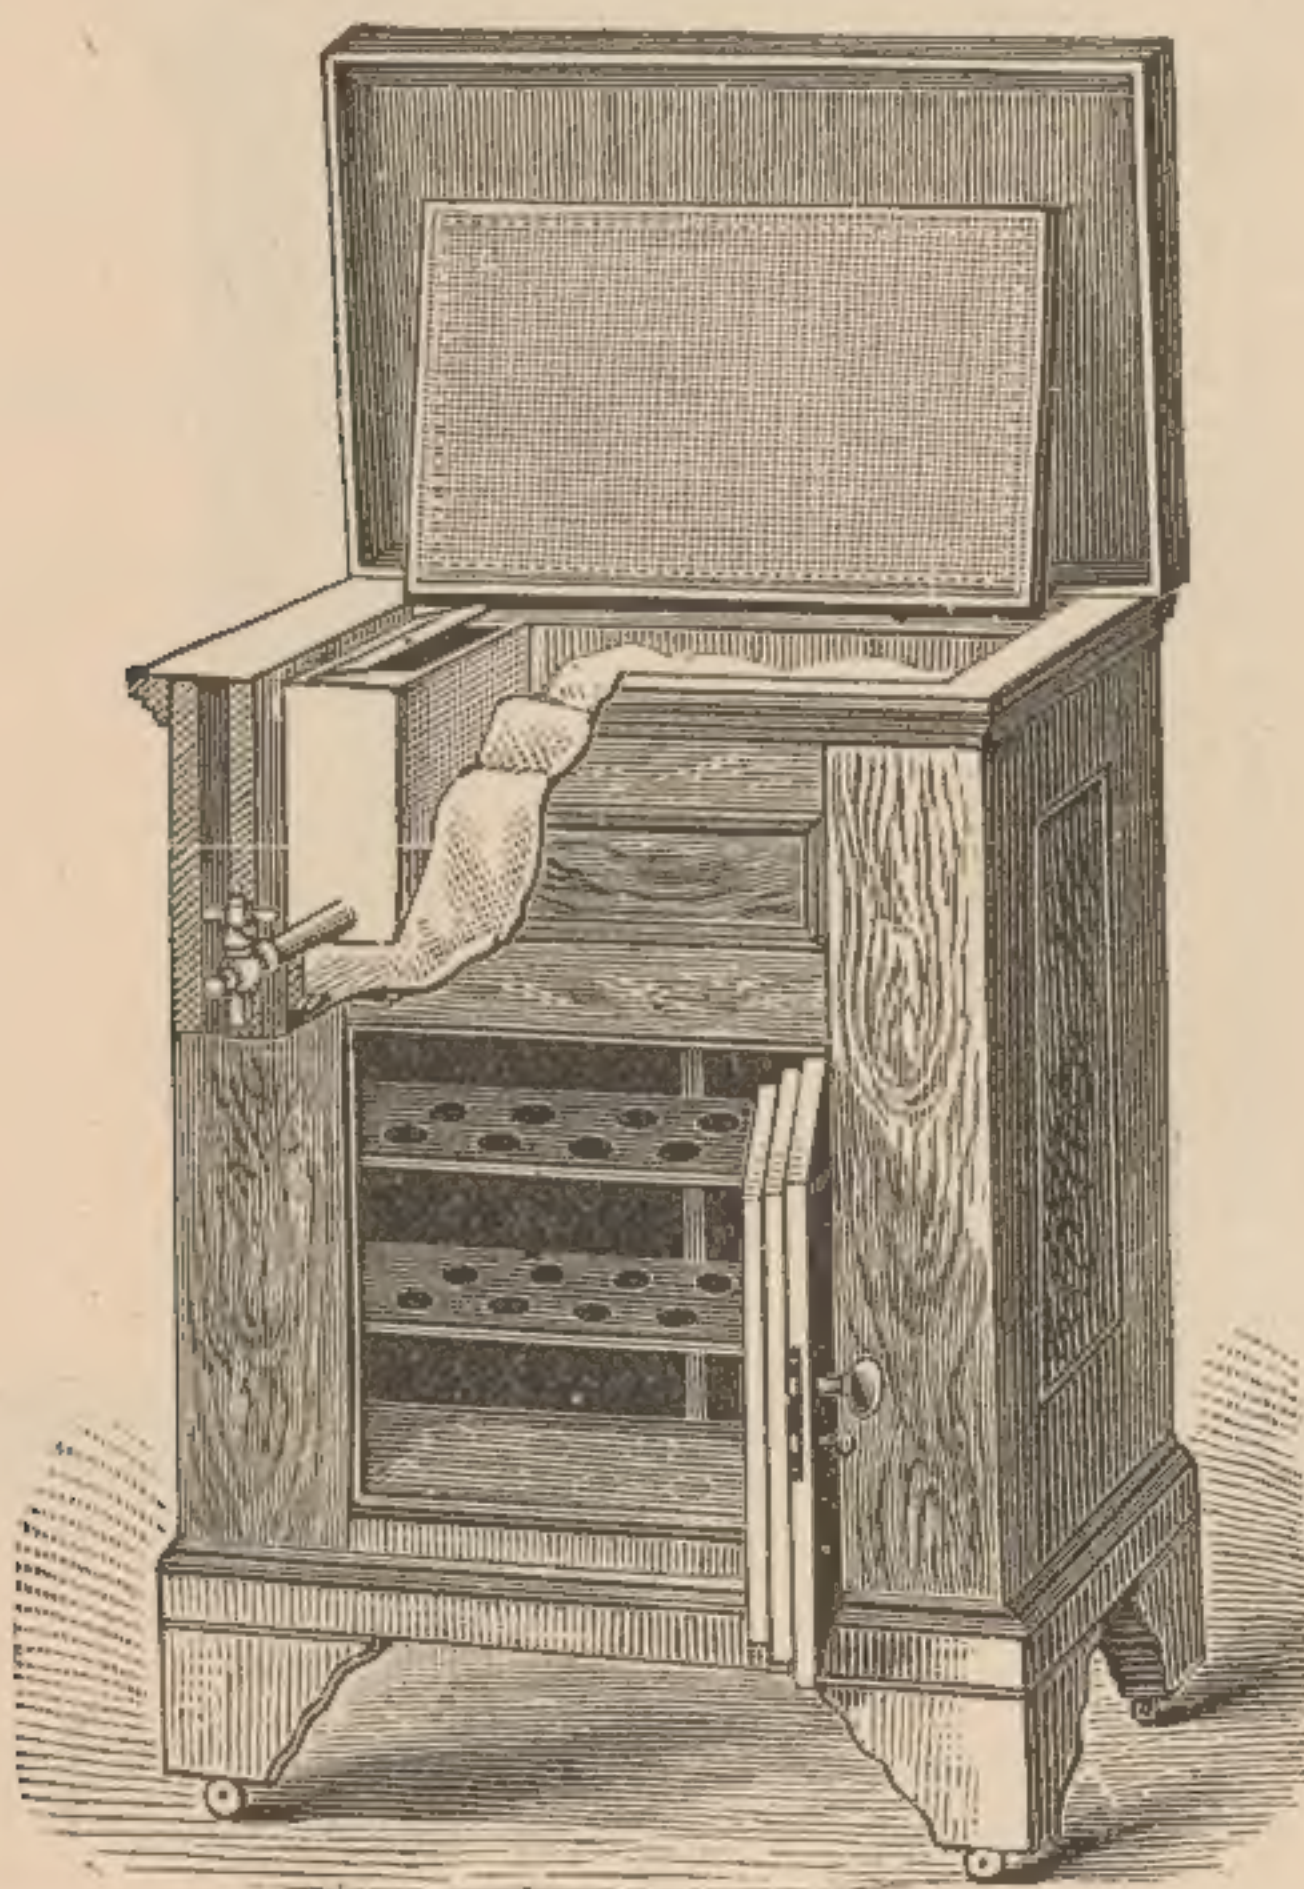

With our present facilities and forty-four years' experience as practical manufacturers of Refrigerators, we present our goods to the trade, knowing they will give satisfaction and that the prices are as low as is consistent with good workmanship and material.
